The Pub-ed Shed – Embracing your inner Sparky! NFPA Hosted Education Opportunity

Fellow Workers,

Lethbridge Fire Prevention is proud to announce we will be hosting an interactive education workshop, sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA).

Laura King, Canada's NFPA public-education representative, will lead this workshop. Laura was a journalist for more than 30 years and worked as a reporter and editor for newspapers across Canada; she was editor of Fire Fighting in Canada and Canadian Firefighter magazines for 10 years before moving to NFPA in September of 2017. Laura has an honours degree in journalism, political science and public administration from Carleton University, and a certificate in Introduction to Incident Management Systems; she is a certified Road to Mental Readiness instructor, and a certified NFPA 1035 Fire and Life Safety Educator.

Description

In this fun, interactive workshop, NFPA's Laura King focuses on FREE resources and programs offered by NFPA. She explains how to target your messaging to specific audiences and how to build partnerships. Laura will be working with participants to navigate NFPA's abundance of web-based resources. Come prepared to participate, and leave armed with a public-education tool kit your whole department can use!

*This program is for firefighters, fire prevention officers/inspectors, fire- and life-safety educators, chiefs and everyone in between! NOTE: Students focusing in the Fire safety-codes course are welcome.*
